

Victoria Michel-Milian, PharmD, PGY2: Ambulatory Care

Hometown: Caguas, PR/ Cumming, GA

Pharmacy school: South University

PGY1: Memorial Health University Medical Center

Clinical interests: Geriatrics, Pain and Palliative care & Cardiology

Hobbies: Singing/Dancing, reading, exercising and spending time with friends and family

Research project: Culturally Aligned Care: Evaluating Pharmacist–Patient Language Concordance in Diabetes Management

Why I chose Kaiser Permanente Georgia: I chose Kaiser Permanente Georgia because of its excellent reputation, positive work environment, and dedication to providing equitable, patient-centered care. The PGY2 Ambulatory Care Residency program also offers exposure to a variety of ambulatory care practice areas, including HIV and geriatrics, which provides the opportunity to develop into a well-rounded ambulatory care pharmacist. In addition, the program's preceptors are personable, understanding, and genuinely invested in resident growth and success. These qualities, along with the diverse learning opportunities available within the program, were some of the many factors that solidified my decision to apply and rank this program as my top choice.

Iman Mohamed, PharmD, PGY2: Ambulatory Care

Hometown: Rowlett, Texas

Pharmacy school: UNT Health Fort Worth

PGY1: VA North Texas Health Care System

Clinical interests: primary care

Hobbies: walking, painting, spending time with friends and family

Research project: Impact of IBD pharmacist on vaccination rates in IBD patients

Why I chose Kaiser Permanente Georgia: I chose Kaiser Permanente Georgia because of its dedication to patient centered care and the variety of ambulatory care learning experiences available. I was excited by the opportunity to develop my clinical skills across diverse patient populations. My goal is to work collaboratively with patients, help them better understand and manage their chronic conditions, and partner with them to achieve their health goals.